

Message from the Head of the Department

Department of Social Statistics

As the head of the Department of Social Statistics, I am glad to give this message on the occasion of launching the “5th Journal of Social Statistics (JSS) 2018”.

The Department of Social Statistics has given many opportunities to the undergraduates to explore new researches and I am delighted to see that they have been benefited from those.

The “JSS-2018” is an important moment as this provides a platform for the Social Statistics undergraduates to present their research papers. It serves as a springboard to illuminate the skills of undergraduates which paves the way to publish successful researches.

We, the Department of Social statistics are always dedicated in motivating undergraduates to publish adequate research findings. Therefore, I believe that “JSS-2018” will be simply remarkable among the others.

Furthermore, I take this opportunity to offer my heartfelt wishes to the undergraduates those who are publishing their research articles, and also those who are creating this event for the 5th consecutive time.
